NO GRAVE DISORDERS

And None Likely Unless Religious Passions Are Aroused by Closing of Churches—Government Resting on Its Oars.

Paris, Dec. 14.—The first day of the separation of Church and State having passed without any grave disorders, public interest is already flagging. It is now apparent that the resistance of the clergy is merely passive and there is no prospect of religious passions being aroused, unless the churches are closed. The government is resting on its oars.

AWAIT ACTION.

State Department Defers to Action of Senate on Congo.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—At present the question of American interference in the Congo land is according to both senators and members of the cabinet, up in the air. The Senate has before it the resolution introduced by Senator Lodge assuring the President of the hearty support of the Senate in case he sees fit to take action in that matter. In the meanwhile the state department sees nothing in the situation up to date which warrants its taking any action.

It is supposed that, if it had any predilection toward action, it would defer it until after the Senate had disposed of the Lodge resolution. At the same time it is thoroughly recognized here that several of the European powers are stirring in the case and that one at least, Great Britain, has made formal expression of its opinion.

It is deemed almost certain that other countries will follow in her wake, but whether such concert of action would involve the United States is questionable upon the ground that this country was not a signatory to the Berlin conference.

THE TRANSFER OF WHITE.

Reasons Given for It at Rome—President Upholds White.

Rome, Dec. 14.—It is said here that the transfer of Henry White from Rome to the French embassy was caused by the enmity of the Italian government and the hostility of society leaders aroused by his refusal to admit several notorious women in Russian society to the embassy social events. By transferring White to a better post, President Roosevelt is regarded as having upheld his actions.

OPPOSITION TO WILLIAM.

Content Between Kaiser and People to Overshadow Russian Conventions.

Berlin, Dec. 14.—The radicals predict the content between the Kaiser and the people will overshadow the Russian conventions. As a result of the new election necessitated by the dissolution of the Reichstag it is expected that the anti-government majority will be stronger than ever. The opposition plans to obstruct the emperor in every department.

PRESIDENT NOT KRUSHT.

Knockout of Simplified Spelling by Congress Does Not Offend.

Washington, Dec. 14.—President Roosevelt is not at all "krusht" by the knockout simplified spelling received in Congress and today is taking the jokes of his friends in good part. He says he expected the blow for some time. Recently published letters from the White House show he could use the old style orthography very well.

RELIEF OF FAMINE SUFFERERS.

Red Cross Society Considering Ways to Help Russia and China.

Washington, Dec. 14.—The Red Cross society is considering methods of appeal for aid for the famine sufferers in the interior of Russia and China. Shiploads of food are believed to be more desirable than cash. Relief to the Chinese would go a long way toward reducing the anti-American sentiment there.

COMING INTO VERMONT.

Tilton & Son, Hosiery Company, Locates at St. Johnsbury.

St. Johnsbury, Dec. 14.—G. H. Tilton & Son, of Tilton, N. H., manufacturers of children's hosiery, with factories at Tilton and Laconia, N. H., Columbia, S. C., and Savannah, Ga., are to install a branch factory in St. Johnsbury. The company is one of the largest manufacturing concerns of its kind in the country and is starting the branch here because of the scarcity of help in Tilton and Laconia does not make practicable the enlargement of the plants there. In Tilton they employ 250 hands in Laconia 300, and about 800 in the south. Last year the company did a business of $900,000. With their present capacity, they are unable to fill orders and operations will be begun here at once.

They will locate temporarily on the second floor of the O. V. Hooker machine shop, formerly occupied by the Green Mountain Casket company. When operations are fairly started and instruction has been given to a sufficient number of operators, the company will erect a building. It is expected that they will build in the spring, the machinery is ordered and the firm expects to be running by January 1. Only a few girls will be employed at the start, but fully 100 will be employed in the spring. As each has to be taught how to run the machines, experience will be necessary. The plant here will give especial attention to the sewing and finishing of the hose.

It is largely through the efforts of L. N. Smythe that the new industry has been induced to come here and much credit is due Mr. Smythe for his enterprise in the matter.

SWEEPING RECOMMENDATIONS.

Mayor Fitzgerald Wants all Boston's Departments Investigated.

Boston, Dec. 14.—Mayor Fitzgerald in a communication to the board of aldermen yesterday recommended an investigation by the board of all the city departments as well as the city finances. The aldermen postponed action on the matter until next week.

At the opening of the municipal campaign last month it was suggested at the Republican convention for the nomination of minor municipal candidates that the state legislature be requested to investigate the municipal affairs of Boston. There was also a suggestion that an investigation be held by a committee outside of the legislature. The Republican city committee went further and voted in favor of a legislative investigation, and it is expected that an order for such action will be introduced at the opening of the legislature next month.

If the present board of aldermen favors an investigation by a special committee of the board, it will necessarily be a hasty one, as the board goes out of existence on Jan. 1.

PRIEST AND WOMAN DEAD.

Lifeless Bodies Found in a Room in a New York Boarding House.

New York, Dec. 14.—The lifeless bodies of the Rev. Father C. S. Quinn, 25 years old, formerly assistant pastor of St. Agnes church at Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and Miss Bridget Riley, 22 years old, until recently housekeeper at the St. Agnes parish house, were found in a room at a boarding house on East 18th street yesterday. The room was filled with gas which was escaping from a half open jet.

Michael Riley, who later identified the bodies at the morgue as those of his sister and Father Quinn, said that the priest at one time resided in Syracuse, N. Y. He stated that his sister came to America recently from Ireland.

There had been much scandal concerning Father Quinn, and the name of the housekeeper was also in circulation concerning the priest. Finally a committee of the church visited Bishop McFall of Trenton, and the representations they made to the bishop resulted in the dismissal of Fr. Quinn.

Was Born in Vermont.

Colonel William L. Brown, former New York State Senator and widely known Democrat, died at his home in Great Barrington, Mass., Thursday, after a lingering illness of heart disease. He was born in Vermont Dec. 25, 1840, and in early youth moved to Ohio, where he taught school. At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted and won the title of colonel. At the close of the war he returned to Ohio where he went into newspaper business for a while before moving to New York State. In 1875 he was elected to the State Senate, serving the fifth New York district for two terms. He was prominent in legislation, one of his measures being the bill establishing the New York city aquarium.

TAKES HIS
OWN LIFETimson Manor of Cambridge
Ends AN

HE BECAME VERY ANGRY

With Son-in-Law, Arthur Shanteau, Who Whipped Cambridge, and Intertposed—Used Shotgun to Take Life.

Cambridge Junction, Dec. 14.—Because of harsh words between father and son-in-law over the chastisement of a little son, Timson Manor committed suicide at nine o'clock yesterday morning with a shotgun placed in such a way that the contents of the gun were discharged into his throat.

Shortly before Mr. Manor performed this rash act, a few words were exchanged with Arthur Shanteau because the latter had punished his child for a misdemeanor. The words arose because Mr. Manor took the part of the little boy. Following this conversation Mr. Manor went to his room declaring that the same roof would not cover both him and his son-in-law, and said that he would go to Fairfax, where he had relatives. He went to his room and took from a peg in the wall a shotgun loaded with a light charge of bird shot. He laid down on the floor after attaching one end of a string to the trigger of the gun and the other to his foot, placing the muzzle under his chin. He then pulled the string. The entire charge of shot penetrated his throat, entering the brain and killing him instantly.

The local health officer and undertaker were called and the body was made ready for burial. He requested some time ago that when he died he be buried in a suit of clothes bought about ten years ago in Burlington, and this request will be complied with.

Mr. Manor was a man of about 70 years and had been a widower for some time. During the past few years he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Shanteau, in this village, and it is understood that his family relations with his son-in-law previous to this event had been very agreeable. He was a hard working man. Mr. Manor never showed any signs of despondency and it is believed that he took his own life before he had recovered from his fit of anger. Although no definite funeral arrangements have been made, it is expected it will be held at one o'clock Saturday afternoon from the home of Mr. Shanteau, his son-in-law.

MORE TOWING POWER NEEDED.

Facts and Opinions About Commerce of Lake Champlain.

Burlington, Dec. 14.—More towing power is needed on Lake Champlain, according to the merchants interested in the lake's commerce. In the carrying capacity of the canal, it is claimed, has been a decided side in the season of 1890, and the real obstacle has been the lack of power for moving boats.

In the Whitehall office of the canal figures for the season of 1905 show that 414,662 tons of freight, valued at $4,150,956, was cleared. The total amount of arriving freight amounted to 408,429 tons, valued at $3,967,713.

Last year the freight cleared was 460,519 tons valued at $3,791,773 and the freight arriving was 340,491 tons valued at $3,177,260. While these figures in total show an increase of over 23,000 for the year the excess is credited to the increased shipments of merchandise, stone, lime, clay, and fuel. The anticipated big increase in lumber coal and pulp wood did not materialize.

A NEW AUTO
MEASURE

Copied After English Law Introduced in House

SEND DRUNKS TO ASYLUM

Is the Provision of Bill Passed by Senate—House Passes Bill Authorizing Employment of Certain Prisoners on Highways.

Montpelier, Dec. 14.—The Vermont legislature today tackled the only important piece of railroad legislation remaining—automobile regulation. It was scheduled to come up in the House this forenoon, but on motion of Mr. Bailey of Essex was put over until this afternoon, at which time it was introduced to take the place of a measure which was already before the assembly. The substitute is after the English model. The Farmers' association of the legislature is said to be favorable to the new bill put in today.

The provisions of the measure are as follows: "No motor vehicle shall be run on a public way or private way laid out under authority of statute, in reckless or negligent manner. If a person runs a motor vehicle at a rate of speed exceeding 20 miles an hour outside a city or incorporated village, or at a rate of speed exceeding 10 miles an hour within a city, incorporated village or the like, he shall be liable to a fine not more than $100, or to imprisonment not more than 30 days, or both, for the first offense, with costs of prosecution. For each subsequent offense said person shall be fined not more than $500 nor less than $100 or imprisoned not more than six months, or both, with costs of prosecution. Justices of the peace, municipal and city courts shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the county courts of offenses arising under the provisions of this act and of No. 86 of the acts of 1904.

"A person violating a provision of this act for which no penalty is herein otherwise provided, shall be fined not more than $100."

The Senate today passed an important bit of legislation concerning the license law, providing that habitual drunkards may be committed to the state insane asylum, "provided he so desires," for treatment for dipomania until cured. This shall be taken in lieu of sentence. There was some discussion over the common phrase "found intoxicated," which appeared in the bill. Senator Chase of Windham said that the phrase was ridiculous as a person had to be found intoxicated in order to be prosecuted. Nevertheless the Senate decided to leave the phrase as it was.

Along the same line was the passage by the House of a bill to authorize the employment of males imprisoned for intoxication, breach of the peace or for truancy, not more than 10 hours a day in manual labor, meaning highway work in their respective counties.

The House and Senate passed a total of 24 bills this forenoon.

H. 557. An act to assess a state tax on interest-bearing deposits in national banks.

UNDER THE GLITTER OF THE GILDED DOME.

All told, there are about 100 bills to be considered by both branches. A great many of these will never see the light of day.

The better-spirited spirit is gripping the members hard. There is the inevitable loosening of the hold on legislation that comes toward the end of the session. But the heads of each branch endeavor to keep the members in check.

Gov. Proctor has reappointed Luther A. Cobb of Brighton as state inspector of finance and J. E. Cushman to be state commissioner of taxes. Mr. Cobb is the representative from Brighton, or Island Pond. He was not opposed, while there was only one opponent to Mr. Cushman.

Some of the members will go to Wells River this evening to attend the banquet of the Pal Men of New England. Representative Flynn of Springfield, toastmaster. Others will attend the Shrine banquet at the Montpelier house late tonight after the meeting in the armory. There will be work enough for the committees, too.

Mr. Thomas of Marshfield for the fish and game committee yesterday afternoon introduced a bill to fix the annual salary of the state fish and game commissioner at $1,500 and necessary expenses when away from home at $500, and $300 per annum for clerk hire and appropriate $6,500 annually for the care and maintenance of the state fish hatchery.

Gov. Proctor was very anxious to have the legislature get through this week, but the amount of legislation did not permit of it. After many conferences the time for final adjournment was set at Tuesday morning, December 18, at 8 o'clock. Both the House and the Senate agreed yesterday afternoon to adjourn at that time, but the date may yet have to be set ahead.

One of the most interesting debates of the session came yesterday afternoon when the House took up the bill to regulate telephone rates. It was really a battle between the New England Telephone company and the various independent companies throughout the state, and the former may be said to have won out finally, although its opponents did succeed in getting an amendment to the present statutes against discrimination in rates by prescribing a penalty, whereas there was none before.

The annual meeting of the Sixth Masonic District was held in this city yesterday afternoon and evening with Granite Lodge, No. 35, F. and A. M., and according to the statement of Grand Lecturer, J. Vernon Dutton was a most successful and enjoyable meeting. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the lodge was opened in the M. M. degree by Granite lodge of which the E. A. degree was worked on one candidate by the officers of Wyoming lodge of Plainfield. The work of these officers in exemplifying the degree was highly commended upon. A resolution was drawn up extending fraternal greetings to George Inglis, worshipful master of Granite lodge, who is now in the Royal Infirmary at Aberdeen, Scotland, and a copy of the resolution was mailed to him.

An excellent banquet was served in the banquet hall at 6 o'clock for which John Malden was caterer. Following the banquet the lodge was opened in the M. M. degree and Granite lodge worked the degree on one candidate. The grand lodge officers present at the meeting were: Grand Master, Charles A. Caldwell of St. Johnsbury; grand lecturer, Mr. Vernon Dutton of Hardwick; grand secretary, H. H. Ross of Burlington; junior deacon, L. E. Roberts of Barre and district deputy, William Catto of Barre. The meeting was largely attended, there being nearly 150 members present. A enjoyable feature in the working of the degree was the singing of a male quartet composed of L. G. Griffiths, George Mitchell, William Sheriffs and Frank Dyer. This feature was also highly spoken of by the grand lodge officers.

At the close of the degree work District Deputy Caldwell called upon the grand lodge officers and others for remarks. In his report on the work of the Granite Lodge officers in exemplifying the degree Grand Lecturer Dutton stated that he had little criticism to make; that the reputation of Granite lodge officers for doing nearly perfect work having troubled his men, evening work was shown again last evening and that it was one of the best degree working lodges in the state. Grand Master Caldwell spoke in complimentary terms of the work of the officers and told of the growth and prosperity of Granite lodge in the past 23 years, having troubled his men, evening work was shown again last evening and that it was one of the best degree working lodges in the state. BODY HORRIBLY
MANGLEDStefno Bovaglio Killed By Central Train

WAS A CASE OF SUICIDE

Bovaglio Attempted to Throw Himself in Front of Electric Car in Barre Wednesday Evening, But Was Prevented.

Stefano Bovaglio, who attempted to throw himself in front of a street car in Barre Wednesday evening, and who was locked up over night only to be let go yesterday morning, succeeded in ending his life this morning by throwing himself under the 8:45 Central train out of Barre, near Putnam street in Montpelier.

No one saw the deed and it is not known just how the accident happened. As the train was approaching Putnam street Engineer McMahon slowed down for fear his train might rub against the cars of a freight on the adjoining tracks of the Wells River road. Men of the freight crew saw a man's body on the forward truck of the baggage car of the Central train and called the attention of the Central engineer to it. He immediately stopped the train and with the assistance of others the body was taken out from under the train. The upper part of the body rested on the frame work of the truck, and was held there, while the lower part had dragged along the track, apparently for some distance, as from the waist down it was horribly mangled.

Just how far the body had been dragged in this way no one could tell, as no one saw the man when he threw himself at or tried to board the train. The body was taken to Johnnot & Hall's and there was identified by Ferdinand Bonazzi as being that of Stefano Bovaglio.

After being released from the Barre lock-up yesterday forenoon, Bovaglio went to Montpelier, and Bonazzi finding him in a crazy condition on the street took him home with him. At Bonazzi's he expressed the desire to pass the night on the banks of the river, but one of the boarders persuaded him to sleep with him for the night. This morning he disappeared, only to be found lifeless later under the Central train.

Bovaglio was a single man of about 45, who had been in this country about eight years. He has a brother in Milford, Mass., but no other relatives in this country. Those who knew him said he had been out of his head for some time. He was a granite cutter and had worked in Barre, Hardwick, Montpelier and Bethel, and it is asserted he was sent from the latter place to Montpelier to be released only last Wednesday.

It was only Wednesday evening that Bovaglio attempted to throw himself in front of an electric car on Main street, as related in yesterday's Times.
